“Set your affection on things above” (Col. 3:2).

Whatever may be the vicissitudes of our worldly society, we Christians are advised to never be overly concerned about anything. Great peace of mind is promised to us in the Word of God in every circumstance of life. The Bible says, “Be anxious for nothing; but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God. And the peace of God, which passes all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus” (Phil. 4:6,7). No Christian in the world has been able to live without invoking that wonderful promise of peace. This, because the problems of life come to us all. We all must invoke the promise of “the peace of God, which passes all understanding.”

Out of this, however, there arises a question. That is, “Is there any way of living above the fog, of having a life that is more transcendent than the one that I know?” “How can I keep from falling into the slough of despondency?”

There is an answer. This because, following the promise of peace, we have a program of personal thinking which God has given us. It might well be called “Better thinking for better living.” Paul says, “Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Phil. 4:8). Like an aircraft pilot operates from a checklist, so we have the checklist for higher capability. We can mount up with wings as eagles if we will follow the “better thinking for better living” formula that we are given. The qualities of such a life are connected with the checklist of capability which is before us. Think about them.

... Whatever things are true. This is an understandable admonition because, of course, most of the things of our world are false. Almost all modern advertising is false. A high percentage of television is false. The content of most forms of modern education is built on false presumptions. The promises that people make to each other are generally false. Most panaceas touted to cure modern diseases are false. It seems almost that the world is filled with frauds, scams, con games and the like. One must force himself to keep his mind from dwelling on these things. So the Scripture says, “Buy the truth, and sell it not” (Prov. 23:23). The truth may be hard to find, but when we find it, we should never let it go.

The ultimate truth available to man, of course, is the Word of the living God. About this Jesus said, “Thy Word is truth.” The Bible, therefore, is a precious treasure of truth that brings understanding, which is a key to all of the things. All improvement in life is built on an understanding of truth.

... Whatever things are honest. The poet said, “Hold ‘ere this truth before your eyes That all the world is lies and lies.”

Looking for a truly honest person in our time can be a frustrating task. About virtually everyone we meet, we should ask the question, “Would you buy a used car from this man?” The world is sure that politicians, TV promoters, and even religionists are dishonest people. Their intent is not to help, but to deceive and exploit. They should be held in contempt and avoided. Some should be prosecuted.

... Whatever things are just. Injustice, of which we have warning in the Word of God, saturates our world. The idea of fairness is known to all but practiced by few. The world says to itself, “Take advantage of your advantages, no matter what the consequences for others.”

... Whatever things are pure. A glass of water needs only to be 1% impure and it is undrinkable and perhaps poisoned. Purity is, therefore, a 100% thing or it is nothing. Young people are especially warned, “Keep thyself pure,” and this admonition must be the law for everyone.

... Whatever things are lovely.

It is often a good thing to grow roses in the back yard so that we can get at least a small glimpse of loveliness. Out in the world things are becoming more hideous, grim, monstrous and repugnant. The absence of loveliness in “the real world,” is what makes works of art so attractive and valuable. This because they often represent the world as it ought to be, whereas we live in the hideous world that is.

... Whatever things are of good report.

It is difficult today to garner the truth from anyone’s testimony. Reports that come to us from across the world are all subject to the bias, the spin that a liberal press puts upon them. An honest, good report today is a lucky acquisition rather than an expected piece of news. Listen to the reports from everywhere, but take them with a grain of salt. Many have been damaged by evil reports that should have been denounced at their source.

... if there be any virtue. The Scripture says, “Add to your faith virtue” (2Pet. 1:5). Virtue is goodness that is habitual. It is moral quality which we have a right to expect from others. The disappearance of virtue in our society is a sad development. Nevertheless, virtue is there, rare and precious.

... if there be any praise. Few things are more artificial than the praise, the promotion, the prestige of those who are considered noteworthy by our world. The Hollywood star, the sportsman, the politician, all are usually praised with words that started with a hired publicity man. Things that are worthy of praise, true heroes or heroism, all of these are in a severe shortage today. The Bible says that we are to exercise “honor to whom honor” (Rom. 13:7). And therefore, praise is a worthy vehicle. There is, of course, no one worthy at all of the kind of praise that is deserved by our Lord Jesus Christ. To praise the Lord, therefore, is the beginning of a facility of mind which will be valuable in all things. It is called discernment. It is true discrimination (which is a very useful word which has fallen into bad usage).

The point of all of this is that the Scripture says concerning these virtues that we are to “think on these things.” More than once the Bible indicates that we should control our minds and be masters of our thoughts. Concerning heaven and eternal things, the Scripture says, “Set your affection on things above” (Col. 3:2). That means, of course, that we should be masters of our mental direction. We are to let the same mind be in us which was also in Christ Jesus. This cannot be done if we have but a series of inchoate, floating thoughts which keep us confused and take us nowhere. There can be little personal development in the life of anyone apart from a reining in of the diverse, uncontrolled thoughts of the mind. Setting our affection on the proper things is, therefore, the course which the Word of God advocates.

This is a very needed thing today. There is entirely too much small and wasted conversation, even amongst Christians. There are too many superficial conversations and too many small and even disreputable thoughts. Too often our talking together concerns subjects which are forbidden in Scripture, concerning which the Bible says, “Let it not be once named among you” (Eph. 5:3). Too many verbal interactions move between the stupid and the prurient whose final result is the corrupting rather than the enhancing of our mental powers. The Christian who wants to live better and become a more stately, respected person must start by cleaning up his mind and letting that cleansing move out into his language. He must rescue himself from mental deterioration and, for many, the time is short.

Better thinking leads to better living. To miss this is to live an inferior life. The one who would live better must first think better.

From the writings of Dave Breese

WINTER

*How cold the snow must be
Yet still the earth it warms,
To shelter now the seeds of spring
'Gainst later, colder storms.*

*How hard our trials seem
When in the grip of pain.
Yet God in grace allows them all
For future, greater gain.*

*Let minds then be renewed,
Let hearts with courage sing.
For seeds by winter's trials fed
Will blossom in the spring.*

*Then summer harvest comes
Whose bounty bids us learn.
That faith amid the snows will bring
An hundred-fold return.*

THE TIDE OF OUR TIMES

THE NEW YEAR is a time of resolutions for some, hope for others and, we trust bright anticipation for us all. Concerning the future, the Apostle Paul advised us well when he said, “Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus” (Phil. 3:13-14). Yes, ahead lies the privilege of living for Christ in an exciting world for, indeed, these could be the last days.

“HAMAS LEADER’S SON CONVERTED”--This past year, Mosab Hassan Yousef, the son of a top West Bank Hamas leader, converted to Christianity... This 30-year old was first exposed to Christianity eight years ago while in Jerusalem, where out of curiosity he accepted an invitation to hear about Christianity. Afterwards, he became ‘enthusiastic’ about what he heard and would secretly read the Bible every day. ‘A verse like “love thine enemy” had a great influence on me,’ Yousef recalled...

‘I studied Islam more thoroughly and found no answers there. I re-examined the Koran and the principles of the faith and found how it is mistaken and misleading.’

Yousef said he could understand God as revealed through Jesus Christ... Now, his message to Muslims is this: ‘There is only one way to paradise—the way of Jesus who sacrificed Himself on the cross for all of us.’” ASSIST News Service

“GOVERNMENT UNVEILS WORLD’S FASTEST COMPUTER--

Scientists unveiled the world’s fastest supercomputer, a $100 million machine that for the first time has performed 1,000 trillion calculations per second in a sustained exercise...

The computer, named Roadrunner, is twice as fast as IBM’s Blue Gene system at Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory, which itself is three times faster than any of the world’s other supercomputers, according to IBM.

The computer is a speed demon. It will allow us to solve tremendous problems,’ said Thomas D’Agostino, head of the National Nuclear Security administration, which oversees nuclear weapons research and maintains the warhead stockpile.

To put the computer’s speed in perspective, if every one of the 6 billion people on earth used a hand-held computer and worked 24 hours a day, it would take them 46 years to do what the Roadrunner computer can do in a single day.” cnn.com

“DOLLAR LEAPS, BUT EFFECT IS ATYPICAL --

The value of the U.S. dollar has soared with unheard-of speed against many currencies in recent weeks, but the global financial crisis has altered the usual effects of such a spike.

Normally a rising dollar means more Americans traveling abroad and foreign countries exporting more goods and services to the United States. But this time few analysts said they expect to see that happening anytime soon, even though the dollar has gained about 25 percent against the euro and the British pound since early August.” Wichita Eagle

“LIBYA’S GADHAFI SEEKS BETTER TIES WITH RUSSIA --

In his first visit to Russia since Soviet times, Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi on Saturday lauded a new era of cooperation between the two countries, as he sought to take advantage of a recent chill between Moscow and Washington.

Kremlin sources and experts agree that Gadhafi came to Moscow not only to seek cooperation on energy but also to reach an agreement on buying Russian weapons to boost Libya’s defenses.”

“LETHAL MICRO AIR VEHICLES --

Civilian researchers and military developers in Ohio are creating the first battlefield-ready, lethal generation of Micro Air Vehicles (MAVs) with a 2015 deadline. The tiny flying... machines will be the size of small birds, capable of operating for several days without recharging...

According to an article at RaidersNewsNetwork... the Pentagon is feverishly working with engineers and biologists to create a lethal arsenal of ‘micro-mechanical fighting bugs that combine insect aerodynamics with GPS navigation and molecular electronics.’ Honeywell’s MAV is already in use in Iraq by the U. S. Army, checking for roadside bombs and ambushes. It can both ‘hover and stare’ or ‘perch and stare’ at altitudes as high as 10,500 feet, or land and send videos.”

YOUR QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Q. How much should I study prophecy?

A. The primary thing to do is to study the Bible, the Word of God. With a grasp of the teachings of the Bible, you will find that Scripture places great emphasis on the future. Normally then, you would pursue examining the passages in which the Bible talks about heaven, the future of earth and the events that will surely come to pass. You will then be looking at the prophetic picture and you may feel constrained to invest some special time in studying this. After all, we will live in the future, an infinitely longer time than we have lived in the past. It is mystifying that some could know the Word of God and yet have no curiosity about the things to come. This probably evidences a spiritual deficiency.

Q. Why is the Bible long and complicated?

A. Any thing of value is long and appears complicated. God has chosen in His Word to give us the history of the world, the story of the nation of Israel and the message of the redemption of mankind. This may appear to be complicated, but we would hate to see anything left out, for we might, therefore, miss something very important. One should not expect such a marvelous treasure of the revelation of the mind of God to be short and sweet. Some have tried to abbreviate the Bible which attempt, being foolish and presumptuous, was guaranteed to fail.

Q. Is God really good? If so, why do bad things happen?

A. When God made the world, He made it perfect. He controlled everything until He made man. He made man a free moral agency and thereby gave Adam and Eve the power of choice. They chose to sin against God rather than to obey Him and so, the door was opened for every bad thing that has happened since. The Scripture says, "Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men; for that all have sinned" (Rom. 5:12). Bad things happen because sin has corrupted the world.

Q. Yes, but couldn't God have prevented Adam from sinning and thereby saved the world a lot of trouble?

A. He certainly could have, but by so doing He would destroy His purpose in creation. That purpose was to "bring many sons unto glory." These strong sons, the heirs to the universe, will have been made strong by living in a world of sin, temptation and bad things. Without this, man would be a will-less automaton and that would be the worst thing of all.

Q. Jesus knows what we need before we do. Why then shall we pray?

A. We should pray because we are told to. The point is that the things that happen in the world are a combination of the working of the will of God and the will of man. The will of the righteous man is expressed to God in prayer and, therefore, the praying person has been given "the dignity of causality" in bringing things to pass.

Q. In the midst of this disappointing and dangerous world, how do we really know that God loves us?

A. In answer to this, many have pointed to the warm sunshine, the beauty of nature, the happy fellowship with friends and things like this. All of these may, however, fail. The final, ultimate evidence of the love of God is the fact that He gave His Son to die for our sins on the cross. "But God commends His love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Rom. 5:8). Additionally, the Scripture says, "Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us, and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins" (1 John 4:10). The statement that God loves us is proved forever by the finished work of Christ on Calvary's cross. The love of God is, therefore, never to be doubted.

Q. Couldn't God, because He owns the cattle on a thousand hills, have prevented me from going bankrupt?

A. Obviously, He certainly could, but about this the Bible teaches a very interesting doctrine. It says that manifold trials may come upon us, "that the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perishes, though it be tried with fire, might be found to praise and honor and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ" (1 Pet. 1:7). Out of the pit of financial collapse, many a Christian has emerged with a quality of spiritual life and an understanding of living that otherwise never would have been there. Bankruptcy may also prove that a person was in the wrong business after all. Dowden said, "Sometimes a noble failure serves the world as faithfully as a distinguished success."

Q. Doesn't God call special people to be witnesses for Him?

A. God certainly calls and gives gifts for preaching, teaching, biblical exposition and like things. But Jesus was certainly speaking about every Christian when He said, "He that reaps receives wages, and gathers fruit to life eternal: that both he that sows and he that reaps may rejoice together . . . I sent you to reap" (Jn. 4:36,38). That includes everyone!

- * What will heaven be like?

YOUR ETERNAL REWARD Triumph and Tears at the Judgment Seat of Christ

by Erwin Lutzer

This softcover (4 1/4" x 7") book challenges widespread misconceptions about the Judgment Seat of Christ that have emptied it of its meaning. Although Christians have been justified by faith, Christ will still judge them for the "deeds [done] in the body...whether good or bad" (2 Corinthians 5:10). How well or poorly we do here might indeed determine our status in heaven for all eternity.
